There is plenty of railroad iron for upward bound steamers from that city. Receipts of cotton from the tributaries is rapidly declining.

Captain Thomas L. Bingham, a well-known river man, who for seven years has been central of the tracker. has been captain of the tug Geo. B. Mc-Ciellan, died at his residence in Chicago on Tuesday. Captain Bingham plunged into the water and dislodged the ice from the mouth of the lake tunnel, on a cold night in January, 1869, when the water
